

We pay for that service, so feel it should be left the way it is. When you are travelling people depend on this service when there is something going on with a change in the weather or some kind of problem with traffic ahead of you on the road.